Data processing activities carried out by HB IM are described in section D and E. Please note that some functions described hereinafter may not be displayed or may not be available on mobile devices (e.g. on smartphones).

Please note that certain data processing activities within the Online Store are carried out by HUGO BOSS as data controller, in particular the operation of the Customer Account and the mailing of newsletters. Please refer to section C for details.

B. Your personal data

Personal data means any information concerning an identified or identifiable individual. Such data includes, for example, your name, your telephone number as well as your postal and e-mail addresses.

C. Data processing by HUGO BOSS

HUGO BOSS is responsible for the operation of the Customer Account as well as for providing the services offered in connection with it and for the mailing of newsletters. HUGO BOSS will only collect, process or use your personal data as far as legally permitted or provided you have given your prior consent, e.g. for sending newsletters.

I. Your HUGO BOSS Customer Account

You may set up a personal customer account (hereinafter referred to as your "Customer Account") at the Online Store. You can save your personal data (such as address, delivery address, etc.) in your Customer Account, view your order history, check the status of an order, or even create a personal wishlist that you can share with friends.

To create your personal Customer Account, you must provide your first name and surname as well as your e-mail address and a password of your choice. The e-mail address that you supply will also serve as your Customer Account User ID. Once you have successfully registered, you will automatically receive a confirmation by e-mail.

You can update the personal data in your Customer Account at any time and may also, if you wish, enter additional information (e.g. your address, telephone number, and date of birth).

Since the Customer Account is operated by HUGO BOSS, the personal information that you have stored in this account will only be sent to HB IM when you place an order in the Online Store and only that information required for processing your order will be sent (for further details, see D. I).

II. Newsletter subscriptions

If you have subscribed to a HUGO BOSS newsletter, HUGO BOSS will only use your personal information for the purpose of sending the requested newsletter to you. If you cancel your subscription to a newsletter, your data will be deleted without delay. You can cancel the subscription at any time by clicking on the related link in each newsletter or by clicking on the link here.

D. Data processing by HB IM

HB IM operates the Online Store and is except for the Customer Account (see C. I.), responsible for all data processing related to the processing of orders placed in the Online Store. Consequently, HB IM is your sole contractual partner for all orders that you place in the Online Store. HB IM will only collect, process or use your personal data as far as legally permitted or provided you have given your prior consent.

I. Orders placed from a HUGO BOSS Customer Account

With your Customer Account, you can access the data that you have saved in the past without registering again and thus shop more conveniently in the Online Store. If you have logged into your Customer Account, the fields in the order form "Address & Delivery" will be automatically filled in with the information stored in your Customer Account. In order to show you the details of your purchase (articles purchased, their price and the time of your purchase) in your order history in the Customer Account, HB IM forwards these information to HUGO BOSS as soon as you have clicked on the "Continue" button on the "Address & Delivery" page.

II. Direct orders

Alternatively, you can place an order at the Online Store without using an existing Customer Account. If you so wish, you only need to enter all of the required information in the order form (Addresses & Delivery) yourself.
